The London suffragettes will have to try airships again to get to parliament.

If the consumer would stay away and keep quiet there would never be any trouble in fixing up a tariff bill.

Sad to hear one practical man saying that he can never forgive another practical man. Nothing is so impractical as holding grudges.

Wheat at $1.25 a bushel looks like a fine thing for the farmer; and it would be if the farmer had any wheat. would be if the farmer had any wheat.

Servia has drunk her whiskey; she has drunk it in a tin cup and she has said—with mental reservations—that it is good. The Balkan incident is now closed.

The southern child-labor conference at New Orleans has pointed out the need of stricter legislation in southern states against the employment of young children in factories. It kindly omits pointing out to what extent northern capital seeks to profit by these abuses in the south.

The displeasure shown by Dr. Chas. Elliot respecting the story that he has declined the British ambassadorship, would seem to imply that he is rather inclined to accept it.

Mary Garden says—and Mary probably ought to know—that no woman can be a prima donna and a wife at the same time. And yet a lot of them will keep on trying.

King Alfonso, assisted by Spanish grandees, will wash the feet of twelve men in the humblest walks of life on Thursday. This a beautiful example of sacrifice, not only by the king, but by the "washees."

The American steel company which has underbid English competitors on the steel rails to be supplied to the Glasgow corporation should be able to tell a congressional committee something of interest on tariff duties.

ENGINEER AND FIREMAN NARROWLY ESCAPE DEATH

Albuquerque, N. M., April 7.—Virgil I. Strickland, a locomotive fireman who resides with his widowed mother at 610 South Broadway, was severely injured, and the California Limited was delayed an hour yesterday afternoon as a result of the bursting of the arch flue on engine No. 1417. A disastrous wreck was narrowly averted.

The Limited was steaming through the lower end of the lower yards about 1:10 o'clock when the pipe burst. Fireman Strickland was stooping over when the blast nearly swept him from his feet. Believing that he was about to be scalded to death, Strickland leaped through the side door to the ground. The force of the fall threw him headlong on his face and hands, fairly grinding cinders and soil into his flesh.

F. E. Lee, the engineer, probably saved the limited from being wrecked. When the steam pipe burst Lee threw on the emergency brake and ran out of the cab on the running board. The engine slowed down without so much as a jar. A telephone message was sent to the round house and a switch engine was sent out for the crippled train. Fireman Strickland was picked up and the train backed up to the station for a new engine.

Meeting of Business Men.

The board of directors of the Business Men's association held a meeting at the rooms of the Commercial club last evening for promotion of work on a delinquent sheet to be issued to the members.

The annual election of officers resulted as follows: R. J. Taupert, president; Ike Davis, vice president; C. D. Boucher, treasurer; William Shillinglaw, secretary.

J. C. Johnson &amp; Son were admitted to membership in the association.

The reports of officers show the association to be in splendid condition and an aggressive campaign for the benefit of the community is being planned.
